4. (Confidential - GLC) J. Sourwine, Chief Counsel, Senate Internal Security Subcommittee, called and asked if we could tell him anything about

[redacted]
about him in an article dated 23 April and has another column on him which is about to be published. According to information available to Sourwine, this man is making statements critical of U.S. policy towards [redacted] and Sourwine would like to know something more about him.

[redacted] expects the question of discussions of this material by Agriculture with the Agriculture Committees on the Hill to come up and asked for any guidance we could give him on this. I told [redacted] I thought this was something that could not be limited at the congressional level and suggested that the matter be taken up on a substantive basis through the USIB mechanism since it is an integral part of our sharing of this type of information with other Government departments and agencies.
